COMING TRIAL OF FEDERATIONISTS

Over Six Hundred Affidavits Will Be Presented in Asking Change of Venue

A dispatch from Caldwell, Idaho, dated March 12, says:

The date for beginning the trial of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone will not be fixed for another week, the prosecution having obtained another delay to-day on technical grounds. Judge E. G. Bryan of the Seventh district, acting under a constitutional provision, decided not to try the accused miners, and Judge Fremont Wood of the Third district was substituted as trial judge. This change is not pleasing to the defense, though no prejudice on the part of Judge Wood is alleged.

Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone were brought from Boise by Sheriff Hodgins and two deputies. The defendants were not handcuffed nor shackled, and Mrs. Pettibone and Mrs. Moyer were allowed to accompany them.

During the court recess the defendants were given the privilege of talking with numerous friends who were in the courtroom.

Proceedings were brief and Judge Wood declined to hear arguments on the motions of the defense to dismiss the cases, and if that be desired for a change of venue. Special Prosecutors Hawley and Borah were fearful that serious error would enter in the record if any proceedings were had before the arrival here of the remittitur from the United States supreme court in the habeas corpus proceedings. Attorney Richardson for the defense, quoted supreme court doctrine that it was not necessary to await the remittitur, but Judge Wood refused to go on with the case. All proceedings were therefore postponed until Monday.

Little attention is given the trial locally. People here have all seen the defendants and the usual crowd of curious ones is missing from the courtroom.

The defense will present on Monday 630 affidavits in support of the request for a change of venue. These affidavits are by all classes of citizens of this country and were obtained to show the court that extreme prejudice exists in this community against the defendants. The judge, the attorneys for the defendants, the prison and court officers and newspaper correspondents returned to Boise by special train late this afternoon. There are no accommodations here for the sheriff and the men in his charge and an request of the officials the railroad provided an extra train.

A Critical Moment

The late Joseph Jefferson took delight in telling a story of "business" in the earlier days of the Walnut Street theater, Philadelphia. "Camille" was being played and all was going with intensity. Then came a scene between Camille and Armand, in the course of which a servant was to enter with lights. "In those days," said Mr. Jefferson, "sea island cotton was stage ice cream just as molasses and water were stage wine, sherry or port, according to the proportion of molasses. Armand and Camille were seated at the table, where they had been enjoying such viands as these, and their dialogue was making the very best of an impression upon a crowded house. Then in came the maid servant with the wobbliest kind of a candelabrum. The scene was so egrossing that she was scarcely noticed, but when she set down her burden between the lovers and one of the candles toppled out and put the ice cream in a blaze—well, the strain was broken. The entire audience burst into laughter and the curtain had to be rung down."—Harper's Weekly.

Another Bit of Expert Testimony

"No," said the beautiful girl, "I cannot be yours."

"Why not?" he demanded with a good deal of dignity.

"I don't think it would be wise for me to become the wife of a man who please don't ask me to explain it. I do not wish to hurt your feelings."

Folding his arms across his breast and assuming his proudest look, he said:

"I must insist that you finish what you were going to say."

"Well, then, if you will have it, I am afraid you have an exaggerated ego. The next time you ask a girl to become your wife don't do it as if you thought you were conferring a favor upon her."

The English Wedding Ring

A man who was buying a wedding ring unconsciously imparted the information that the bride was an English woman.

"Then this ring will never suit her," said the clerk. "It is a good ring, but it is 18-karat. Nothing less than a 22-karat wedding ring will suit an English woman. The 18-karat ring is the usual wedding ring in this country, but in England and France, and indeed in most European countries, the bride would refuse at the very altar a man who offered to marry her with any other than a 22-karat ring."—New York Sun.

Ezra G. Smith while hunting recently near the town line of Manchester and Hopewell, about two miles southeast of Shortsville, discovered a large flock of wild geese which, instead of going south were wintering in this vicinity. This flock was making its headquarters in a piece of marshy ground sheltered by timber lands.

Hunters and several Hopewell farmers state that for several years past a flock of geese has made this marshy piece of ground winter quarters during some of the most severe weather. It is also said that even when they came here during the open season for hunting it was almost impossible for hunters to get a shot at them owing to their watchfulness.—Manchester Correspondence to the Rochester Herald.

Operated for Appendicitis

E. F. Pfister, who was critically ill with appendicitis, underwent an operation Monday at the Globe Consolidated hospital and last evening was declared out of danger. The operation was performed by Drs. Kennedy, Maish, Sturgeon and McGee. Mr. Pfister is a well known mining man and he was about to leave for the San Carlos strip to look after some of his property when he became ill. The doctors agreed that a few hours delay would have resulted in certain death for the patient. He was able to sit up last evening and will be able to be removed to his home by Sunday.

The "Tennis Girl" is about due.

Slim Goes to Jail

"Slim" Will Jones is in jail for three months. Judge Rawlings sentenced him yesterday on an embezzlement charge.

"Slim" roomed with one Nelson Cooper, and the latter is flat on his back with inflammatory rheumatism.

"Slim" dilated Cooper. "I'm pretty hungry, and I haven't any ready money. But you could go over and draw twenty dollars from my account. Get about three simoleons' worth of swell grub and we'll have a regular Delmonico feed."

"Slim" is an old pard of Cooper. But old pard didn't come back. Cooper waxed anxious, although no doubts darkened his confiding breast.

However, the invalid, being rheumatic, he finally got discouraged and sent a neighbor's boy to Undersheriff Voris. A few hours later the missing quantity walked right into the arms of the officer on Broad street.

And so the complainant soliloquized, "Methinks I have been nursing a viper in me buzzum."

A sure cure for blues, "Tennis Girl."

Inquisitive

"Didn't I see you going into the doctor's office this morning?"

"Yes."

"But you're looking well."

"I am well."

"One of the children sick?"

"No."

"Not your wife?"

"No."

"Ah, your mother?"

"No, not my mother. If you really must know, I went to pay a bill."

Screeching comedy, "Rescued in Mid Air," at the Iris tonight.

"Tennis Girl" will make you feel good.

I am now prepared to do to your satisfaction
